Speaking.

Judge M. C. Sautley spoke to a large crowd at Stanford on Monday, making virtually the same charges against his opponent that he made in Lancaster on last court day, which were reported in the Record. Rev. T. W. Barker spoke briefly, but Judge Sautley took no part in the discussion.

Words to Read and Hear.

Let every dawn of morning be to you as the beginning of life, and every setting sun be to you as its close; then let everyone of those short lives have its sure record of some kindly thing done for others, some goodly strength or knowledge gained for yourself.—Ruskin.

Shooting At Rowland.

At Rowland Saturday afternoon Garret Smith shot Nathan Prewitt three times and seriously wounded him. One ball went through his left hand, another broke his right wrist and the third penetrated his neck just below the Adam's apple. Prewitt was brought to Stanford and his wounds dressed by Drs. O'Bannon and Reid. Later he was taken to his home in Garrard, where he was doing as well as could be expected at last accounts. Smith was arrested and gave bond in $500. He claims that Prewitt used insulting language to his wife and when he ordered him out of his home he, Prewitt, started to draw his pistol. Smith is from Knox county and is a brother of Representative Sawyer Smith, of Harboursville.—Interior Journal.

Good Meeting.

The Times Journal, of Bowling Green, gives a good account of the revival services being conducted there, by our Ed. F. M. Tindler. Several conversions already, deep interest manifested and every one is thoroughly pleased with his work.

Kengarian Wine.

The court of appeals affirmed the Garrard Circuit Court in the case of the Illinois Surety Company against the Garrard Hotel Company. The action grew out of the erection of the Kengarian hotel, by said hotel company, with appellant as surety. The hotel company recovers $2,570.

Largest Hemp Crop.

A representative of the Record had a pleasant ride with Mr. T. H. Walker over his portion of the Beazley farm on Lexington pike. He has 185 acres of hemp which is looking well. Messrs. H. F. Hudson and James House have crops on other parts of the same farm, owned by Mr. Hudson and Dr. Elliott, making in all nearly 400 acres. This is said to be the largest hemp crop, on one farm, in Kentucky, and the land, having been in blue grass for years, will yield a large crop.

Yes, Times Have Changed.

Times have changed in many ways, as some of us well known. In the good old times when a man got a pain in the neighborhood of his breakfast, his wife laid a hot stove lid on him, and he very soon found himself getting quite busy again. Nowadays, if he gets an uncomfortable feeling about his waistband the doctor calls it appendicitis, lays him out on the operating table, cuts a hole in his anatomy—and he dies, maybe. Again, in the happy long ago you could take your jack-knife or an old razor and whittle away your corns, put on boots and plow all day. Now, if you gently scrape the top of your horny toe, blood poison sets in and off comes your leg. This is a strenuous age. The present degenerate race is a misfit in the hurrying now.—Ex.

Dentists At Crab Orchard Springs.

The dentists in the state are showing more than the usual amount of interest in the coming annual meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association, to be held at Crab Orchard Springs May 17th, 18th and 19th. Arrangements are being made to make this meeting the largest and best in the history of the Association.

Dentists, unlike many other professions, has made such rapid strides in recent years, that the numerous text books on its different branches only a few years old, are almost worthless; making it almost obligatory for the progressive dentist to attend these meetings or be conceded a back number.

A feature of this meeting will be the part taken in the program by the local societies that have been recently organized throughout the state. Each society has elected an essayist and a number of clinicians, which will make this a unique and interesting meeting. Several of the local societies will attend in a body.

An Interesting Meeting.

The Woman's Club met in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church Wednesday May 12, 1909. The subject under discussion was South America.

After a brief introductory talk by Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird on the earliest inhabitants whose origin is shrouded in mystery and uncertainty and the early Spanish and Portuguese settlers, Mrs. Elmore read a paper on the very interesting and extremely diversified flora of South America mentioning many plants, drugs, oils, dyes and foodstuffs obtained from there.

Mrs. Kinnaird then gave a talk on the fauna of this country equally as wonderful, interesting and diversified as its flora.

The round table discussion was confined to the principal exports, coffee and India rubber. At the conclusion of the program the meeting was adjourned till May 28.—Subject for that date—Mexico.—To be led by Mrs. J. A. Royston.

General News.

In an editorial in the Outlook, former President Roosevelt discusses the Japanese situation. He says that while the United States should wait to see if Japan can prevent emigration to this country, the United States should increase the size of its navy in order to be in position to enforce any demands it might hereafter make.

President W. G. As a step in the proposed consolidation of a large number of coal mines in Southeastern Kentucky, the Continental Coal Corporation, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has purchased the Black Bear mines in Bell county from L. Up to the present time $7,500,000 has been found in the treasury boxes of the Imperial Palace at Yildiz, occupied before his deposition by Abdul Hamid. Two and a half million dollars of this is in cash while $5,000,000 is in securities.

Closing Exercises.

The little people will have closing exercises in their class rooms on Wednesday afternoon of next week. The seating capacity of the chapel is too small to accommodate even the student body, so we have not planned any general commencement exercises for the school. We hope that, in another year, we may have a new chapel in which to hold commencement, where our friends may come and be comfortable, and the pupils may have the advantage of taking part in public exercises. ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the Democratic party of the 13th Judicial District: I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge of this district. I prefer a primary election.

M. C. SAUFLEY.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Chas. A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, as a candidate for re-nomination for the office of Commonwealth Attorney for the 13th Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce Hon. John Sam Owsley Jr. as a candidate for the nomination for circuit Judge of this 13th district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Now that the Judicial campaign has about closed it behooves every good Democrat to go to the polls Saturday and vote. This should be done to insure the nomination of their choice, in the aggregate, and not the choice of a few. It would be unwise for a voter to say that his vote would not change the result, for many may be thinking the same way and the actual choice of the majority might be defeated. Again no one, who fails to vote should say that his man was not nominated and, as he took no part in the primary, he is not bound to support the nominee. This is the way to turn affairs over to Republicans. Come out and vote for the one that you think is the best man for the high office of District Judge, and let harmony prevail after the nomination. The case is presented to a jury and a case is presented to a jury and the verdict of a jury is not good unless all concur, except in certain actions three-fourths can make a verdict.

The same should be true of a verdict of the people at the polls. It should be a verdict of all the Democrats, and not of a few who vote, or, at least, a decisive majority of such voters. The reasons for this are apparent. It cannot then, be said that if a full vote had come out the defeated candidate would have won. There can be no dissatisfaction, no sulking in the camp, if the nominee is the choice of the majority of the Democrats. The race is sufficiently important to require the time and attention of the people, and we insist that a full vote be cast, that the nominee may read his title clear and roll up a big majority in November. Come to the polls and submit to the result. Don't shrink this responsibility.

In his speech on the tariff bill Tuesday Senator Bradley said that if the tariff was put on hemp Kentucky would be as certainly republican as Massachusetts. The Senator was always an optimistic sort of a person. The area on which hemp is grown in this State is so small that such a duty will cut no figure even if the raisers were disposed to sell out politically for so small a mesa of postage.—Interior Journal.

The attention of the Democratic party is called to the importance of making a nomination for representative as that the entire ticket can begin to fortify against the enemy. A petition, asking a good man to run, was circulated, but we have heard of no expression from him. Let something be done, in reference to this matter.

COMMUNICATION.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

As there are so many false reports circulated about Judge J. S. Owsley, Jr., we temperance Democrats, independent of the "Anti-Saloon League," send out this circular letter to correct them, and give facts. We copy from the "Danville Advocate":

Brief sketch of Hon. John Sam Owsley, of Lincoln County, who is making remarkable strides in his race for the Circuit Judgeship in this, the Thirtieth Judicial District.

He will make a close canvass of Boyle County this week, where he has many strong backers.

The race for the nomination for Circuit Judge is now on and much interest is being developed. The friends of Judge Owsley are, actively engaged, and seem confident he will be the choice of a majority of the Democrats of Boyle county. Judge Owsley comes to Boyle this week to canvass the county.

He was appointed to the office of County Judge of Lincoln county by Gov. Beckham, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge Richard Warren. He so acceptably discharged the duties of that office that the Democracy of Lincoln county gave him the nomination for County Judge without opposition, and after a vigorous canvass he defeated his Republican opponent, by a good majority.

He held the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of this District for two terms, and performed his duties faithfully and with exceptional ability. He is now County Judge of Lincoln and aspires to the Circuit Judgeship, for which he is well and admirably qualified.

The friends of Clark Harberson are much gratified to learn that Judge Owsley will make him Master Commissioner if elected to the Judgeship. Judge Owsley is known to have always voted for local option, and it is claimed the temperance Democrats will stand solidly behind him in this fight for the nomination. This question has become the supreme and absorbing issue in this and other districts of the State, and the people want to be advised as to the views of all candidates who offer for office. They want to know whether they are placing the machinery of our government in hands of those who favor it, or in the hands of those who oppose their views on this subject. It might be well to state that at least two of the counties of this District will soon vote again on local option.

The people of Boyle County have for years had local option and Judge Owsley's position on this question makes him an exceedingly acceptable and formidable candidate.

We copy a letter from the Pastor of the Presbyterian Church:

Stauffer, Ky., April 27, 1909.
Rev. T. W. Barker, Stanford, Ky.
Dear Brother Barker—In answer to your enquiry in regard to Judge Sam Owsley, I am glad to state that he united with my church the first of last January, and has since that time lived a consistent Christian life.

Fraternally Yours,
J. L. YANDELL,
Pastor of Presbyterian Church.

We also copy Judge J. S. Owsley's letter to the Anti-Saloon League:

Stanford, Ky., April 3, 1909.
To the Members of The Anti-Saloon League, of Lincoln County:

Dear Sirs: Your letter of April 2nd, enclosing copies of the proposed "County Unit Bill" and "Anti-Blind Ticker Bill," requesting me to answer you as soon as possible, stating whether or not I am in favor of these bills becoming laws, has just been received.

In reply will state I am in favor of both bills becoming laws, and in favor of all other legislation necessary to enforce local option. I have never failed to vote for local option whenever that question has been submitted to a vote of the people.

Yours very truly,
J. S. OWSLEY, JR.

You see Mr. Owsley takes a positive stand on the right side. He has always been in favor of Local Option.

All that has been said about him being drunk since he joined the church is false. We have investigated every charge we have heard of, and find them all false. It is not a question of what Mr. Owsley has been, what is he now? We are standing by him because we have faith in him, and believe that he is sincere. We appeal to all Temperance Democrats. Be careful, do not make a mistake. If Mr. Owsley is nominated it means a victory for Temperance Democrats. If he is defeated it means a victory for the liquor party.

MANY TEMPERANCE DEMOCRATS, Independent of the Anti-Saloon League.

5.—The polls shall be opened in each and every precinct of all the counties in the district aforesaid, in the usual and regular voting places.

6.—Upon the closing of the polls, the officers shall proceed to count the ballots and to make returns, and in so doing shall be governed by the provisions of the general election laws, and the returns shall be made to the chairman of the respective counties in the district, who will deliver the stub-books, the certificates, and any questioned ballots to this Committee.

7.—The officers of election shall be selected from lists to be offered by the candidates, in accordance with the provisions of the primary election law, by the district committee.

9.—On the next day after the returns shall have been made, the committee shall meet and canvass the vote, cast and issue certificates of nomination.

Kentucky Crop Report For April.
Commissioner of Agriculture, M. C. Rankin, has issued the following report on the condition of crops and live stock in Kentucky on May 1st, 1909:
Much rain has fallen during the past month, causing much damage in many sections of the State.
Wheat is generally in very poor condition for the time of year, but with good growing weather we may expect a fairly good crop.
Hemp looks well and promises a large crop. Some large growers are planting a larger crop than ever before.
Fruit has been damaged in some localities, especially peaches, plums and cherries, but there is a good prospect for a large crop of apples and grapes.
The prospect for the oats crop is better than this time last year.
An unusually large crop of tobacco is promised, exceeding almost all records, especially in this State in regard to Kentucky tobacco. About an average crop of dark tobacco will be planted. Tobacco plants are not as far advanced as they should be on account of so much wet weather.
Live stock is in fairly good condition and a decrease of cattle and hogs are shown on account of high prices of meat. An increase of sheep is shown in many counties of the State.
A large corn crop will be planted, due in a large measure to the farmer using pure bred seed corn.
There is a small acreage of rice and barley grown in the State and both are looking fairly good.
Clover is in a poor condition. Alfalfa looks well and the acreage is being increased throughout the entire State.

Keeps Them Safe

Wasted Energy.
A woman cook shoots at her employer simply because she remarked that the hams were heavy. What a waste of energy! She should have stood by calmly and permitted him to eat a few. —New York Herald.

People Will Talk.
You may get through the world, but 'twill be very slow, if you listen to all that is said as you go.
You'll be worried and fretted, and kept in a stew.
For meddlesome tongues will have something to do.
For people will talk.
If quiet and modest, you'll have it presumed
That your humble position is only assumed.
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool,
But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool.
For people will talk.
If generous and noble they'll vent out their spleen,
You'll hear some loud hints that you're selfish and mean;
If upright and honest, and fair as the day,
They'll call you a rogue in a sly, sneaking way.
For people will talk.
And then, if you show the last boldness of heart,
(Or slight inclination to take your own part,
They will call you an upstart, conceited and vain;
But keep straight ahead; don't stop to explain.
For people will talk.
If you dress in the fashion, don't think to escape,
For they criticize then in a different shape.
You're ahead of your means, or your tailor's napsid;
But mind your own business, there's naught to be made,
For people will talk.
New the best way to do is to do as you please,
For your mind, if you have one, will then be at ease.
Of course you will meet with all sorts of abuse,
But don't think to stop them; it ain't any use.
For people will talk.

The Funny Side.

Amuse (after listening to Sammy's tale of how his marbles had gone)—It serves you right, Sammy! Little boys who play marbles on Sunday always get them.

"For mercy's sake, Tommy! Didn't I tell you not to fight with that Mercer boy?"
"Yes, ma, but where you made your mistake was in not telling the Mercer boy that he wasn't hit me." —Cleveland Plaindealer.

SENATOR DANIEL
On the Subject of the Leaf Tobacco Tax

The Congressional delegations from the great tobacco raising States are a unit on the question of removing the six cents tax on leaf tobacco. Senator Daniels, Virginia, recently made a strong speech in the Senate in the course of which in discussing the discriminations of the bill, he said: "There is a plant in my State, it is 'The Ugly Duckling' of every farmyard, and there is no bird, fowl or otherwise, that does not seek to pull a feather out of it. It is tobacco."

"Go to Turkey. The Sultan will have none of it, no matter how much his people want it, not an ounce can go there. Go to England. Seventy-two cents a pound must be laid down before an Englishman will touch it. Then he makes a fortune in manufacturing it. Our New England friends have taken care of Connecticut and Connecticut Valley tobacco. I do not blame them. Get our tobacco ready to be sold. What do you say to the farmers? 'You shall not sell it.'"
"There is not another citizen in the United States who is denied by an act of Congress the right to sell freely the thing that he made by his own hands out of the land that he owns. Put that in your pipe and smoke it. A Kentucky planter, a Pennsylvania planter can not take his own tobacco, for which he asks you nothing, but which he tenders in a trade, and sell it as he pleases without first paying a tax. You talk about Kentucky night riders. I am a man of law. I take the side of law when ever it has an encounter. But gentlemen, we have had the need of rebels in this country to teach law, and the lessons that they have taught this nation have been its wisest and most enduring. I do not mean by that in the slightest degree to encourage, to approve or to recognize the right or the propriety of any man taking the law into his own hands. But whenever you find men in this country who manifest a desire to take the law in their own hands, you should also scrutinize your own conscience and your own conduct, and see to it that you do nothing to provoke it. It is the man who produces conflict, whether by speech, whether by law or otherwise, who is more to be blamed for conflict than anyone else." —A. S. of E. News.

NOT A CORPOREAL DELIGHT.
Real Nature of the Kiss, As Viewed by a Writer Who Has Clearly Studied the Subject.

It is the fashion of the more bilious mortals to put kissing among the gross pleasures, with eating, drinking, smoking and the use of tobacco; but, as a matter of fact, it is not a corporeal delight in any way, as a writer in the Baltimore Sun, his sole physical companion, indeed, is a representation of affection, and this, as all will admit, is scarcely agreeable. No; the insidious charm of the pastime must be sought in its psychic effects. In its marvelous and delightful interference with the normal processes of rationalization. A man kissed is a man transfigured and transcended. Let him be the worst of misanthropes before the sweet indulgence of nose upon nose, and he may yet emerge from the turmoil a philanthropist. One kiss, properly administered, is enough to transform a pirate into a poet, a politician into a philosopher, or vice versa. One small kiss, indeed, is sufficient to turn a proud, heaven-kicker hachey into a servile, sniveling man; the most stupidest, antipathetic and unamiable transformation possible, at this writing, in a more human being.

NEWEST USE FOR NAIL FILE.
Guest at Philadelphia Diner at First Caused Great Consternation by His Action.

A Philadelphia doctor has discovered a brand new use for a nail file which is likely to become much more prominent than the old use. A short time ago this doctor was a guest at a dinner in one of Philadelphia's most exclusive clubs. When the last course had been served and the clearing up was being pushed the doctor reached down into his trousers and extracted a penknife. Slowly he opened a blade. Everybody gasped. Could it be that Dr. — would so far forget himself as to mutilate his nails at the table? All watched with bated breath. Slowly the doctor reached out and removed a match which was near his place. Then he deliberately struck his match on the rough part of the nail file and lit his cigar. The suspense was over and the doctor had not committed the frightful breach of etiquette which his associates had feared. Now the custom is spreading fast, for it is less of a bother than it is to stand on one leg to strike the match on one's shoe, and decidedly more elegant than the time honored method of striking it on one's trousers.

Probably True.
"Say," said the farmer, who was in loading potatoes at the grocery, "do you believe that story about little George Washington and the hatchet and the cherry tree?"
"Don't ask me," laughed the grocer.
"Well, I think it is probably true. I've got a boy ten years old at home and after he had teased me for a year or so I bought him a boy's ax."
"And did he cut down your favorite cherry tree?"
"He did a heap better than that. He cut down most of the apple orchard orchard."
"And did he tell a lie about it?"
"Nops. Toned up like a little man."
"And, like Washington, you praised him?"
"Unlike Washington, I didn't do any such thing. I gave him a hiding on the spot, and have kicked him once a day since and am going to keep it up until he is twenty-five years old."

Request for a Loan.
Hanging in our front hall was a large Japanese hat made of rice straw, and the colored girl in the kitchen was preparing to go to a masquerade ball, so we were not surprised when she sent the infant daughter of the house into the parlor Mardi Gras evening with the following note:
"Dear lady, will you please loan me that hat that hung up in the front hall please and let me have 25 c again—and this will be the last time I am going to worry you but please lend me that hat please mmm this is the best time I am going to mass (mask) please, lend me the hat please from Myrtle."
"Please lend me the hat."
"Answer soon."
"Don't come send me word."
She got the hat.—Houston Post.

First Fare on the Comet.
Dr. John Ingalls remembers a conversation with an old gentleman who claimed to have been the first to pay passage money on board the first passenger steamer in Europe—the historic Comet. The voyage undertaken was from the Broomfield to Baltimore—fourpence now by tramway car—and the fare was four shillings. It was taken by Henry Bell himself. The comet was stopped and waited for half an hour till Bell and his passenger adjourned to an inn, where the first fare was the toast of prosperity to the pioneer passenger steamer.—Glasgow Herald.

The Hour Glass.
Instead of being obsolete and simply an interesting relic, the hour glass in various forms is a twentieth century necessity. A marshall authority points out that for such purposes as timing, hardening and tempering heats in twist drill manufacture, where seconds or minutes must be gauged accurately, nothing serves like the hour glass with the right amount of sand. Accuracy to fractions of a second can be had much more easily than by watching the hands of a watch.

MR. JONES IN AN EMERGENCY.
Except for Single Unfortunate Incident He Was Just the Man to Deal With It.

When Jones reached home the other night he found Mrs. Jones huddled up in a corner of the sofa weeping, and about four inches of water on the kitchen floor.
The Joneses hadn't been married very long, so he contented himself with a general remark concerning the untimeliness of women and asked how it happened.
"The water pipe under the sink burst," Mrs. Jones told him.
Jones snuffed phlegmily, walked deliberately to the kitchen closet and produced a wrench. Opening the cellar door with a confident air he descended to the region below.
After bumping at least seven obstacles he finally reached the wall and reached out for the cock which he had noticed in a pipe which traversed the wall. He applied his wrench and shut it off.
Pating himself on the back for being able to cope with an emergency, he started back upstairs. Just half way up the steps he bumped into his wife.
Mrs. Jones was the first to speak.
"O, dear," she said, "what in the world did you turn off the gas for?" —Philadelphia Times.

NOT THE SPEAKER'S PROVINCE
Orator to Follow Was Proper Person to Comply with Request of Enthusiast.

Preachers of all denominations occupied chairs upon the platform. They were giving their voices and influence to the conversion of a political boss. The Presbyterian clergyman had the floor and most vigorously attacked the enemy. He delivered some fierce, telling thrusts, and the audience was with him. The boss received some cruel jabs.
"That's right, soak him!" encouraged a man with a stentorian voice who had standing room in the rear. As the clergyman warmed up to his subject the interpreting "soak him!" came from the rear with greater power and frequency.
The speaker paused. He was not irritated, but gently threw the audience into a good-natured hysteria by saying:
"The intentions of the gentleman in the rear are good, but wholly inopportune and ill advised. If he'll kindly reserve his comments for the next speaker, Brother Herrick of the Baptist church, he'll be accommodated, no doubt."

Moving on Short Notice.
I was lying on the floor of an old country farmhouse one summer day, near a big, open fireplace, when I heard a peculiar, frightened squeak. I got up to see what looked like a huge mouse moving at a very rapid walk across the room. When I got closer I saw that it was a mother mouse moving her whole family. At least, I hope there was none left behind, for very soon a small snake, but large enough to put into a panic the mother of four less than half-grown children, came through the empty fireplace, and after the little fugitive, the mother mouse had two in her mouth, and fastened to either side of her, apparently holding on with their mouths and for "dear life" were the other two. I killed the snake, and watched the moving family disappear through a hole in the corner.—St. Nicholas.

This Mixed-Up World.
If things would not run into each other, it would be a thousand times easier, and a million times pleasanter to get on in the world. Let the sheepness be set on one side and the goatiness on the other, and immediately you know where you are. It is not necessary to ask that there be any increase of the one, or any diminution of the other, but only that each shall pre-empt its own territory, and stay there. Milk is good, and water is good, but don't set the milk pail under the pump. Pleasure softens pain, but pain embitters pleasure; and who would not rather have his happiness concentrate into one memorable day, that shall gleam and glow through a lifetime, than have it spread out over a dozen comfortable commonplace, humdrum forenoons and afternoons, each one as like the other as two peas in a pod?—Gail Hamilton.

Salt Seasoned Timber.
A workman was packing salt about a pile of timber. "Seasoning timber with salt, eh?" It sounds like a joke, doesn't it?" he said. "It is often done, though, especially in ship timber. Ships built of salt seasoned timber get a better insurance rate. Some very rich woods are seasoned in boiling oil. That's an ancient and costly process. A new dodge is electrical seasoning. With strong electric shocks the sap is driven out of the wood and replaced by a solution of borax and resin. The scheme is cheap; not half as good as salt."

Spanish Executioner's Remorse.
A curious story comes from Seville. On Sunday night the local executioner died, his death being due to remorse. For several years he had not carried out any executions, but recently he was summoned to Cordova to inflict the final penalty on some criminals. The impression made upon him was so painful that he was unable to face the ordeal when summoned to execute the last criminal condemned in Seville, and the sentence will have to be carried out by the Madrid executioner.

TO HER.
Her eyes are wells of soul and truth,
Her eyebrows penciled finely;
She walks with all the grace of youth
And walks most divinely.
Her name's like music to the ear
(Though I don't know it yet);
To me she will be ever dear—
That girl I've never met!

With soul as pure, serene and high,
With mind as rich and rare,
No equal has she 'neath the sky;
Her good as all is fair.
Her words, as low and few and sweet,
I'm sure I'll never forget;
What joy 'twill be when I shall greet
That girl I've never met!

Ah, rarest maid!—exquisite she!—
Could I know where you abide,
How blessed above mankind I'd be
If you could be my bride!
She'll know that I was born for her
And she for me, sweet poet,
You'd die for me! Suppose you were
That girl I've never met!

Some day, somewhere, when skies descend
To touch the solid ground,
When at the magic rainbow end
A pot of gold is found,
When blackbirds are as white as snow,
Or pearls resemble jet,
That maiden mythical will know—
That girl I've never met!

Worth a Thought

Why do the Tin Plate Mills, the Metal Rolling Mills, the Shingle Mills, Lumber Yards and all large factories use Swan Brand Pebbles Top and Veribest Rubber Roofing? Why do they not use their own Manufacture? Simply because they know ready Roofing will last longer, cheaper in price and less expense to lay. Write for price and samples. W. W. EGG CASES FOR LAYING HENS.

Below is Given an Outline Sketch of a Serviceable and Inexpensive Nest.

A correspondent kindly furnishes this department with the accompanying sketch of a serviceable and cheap arrangement for laying nests, together with a description:

Egg cases leaned against interior wall, staircase fashion. A small house lined in this manner will furnish a large number of nests, and if kept exclusively for laying will remain free from dung for an indefinite time. Chicks should not be allowed in this department, and for this reason entrance for the hens should be through a small door or opening several feet from the ground. The roosting house should be another room entirely. Also this laying-room is useless for setting purposes. A separate coop for each sitting hen with the bottom level so that the eggs cannot pile up, is best. In both cases nothing brighter than "dim religious light" should pervade.

Nests Made of Egg Cases.

FEEDING BEES IN THE SPRING

Greatest Secret of Successful Beekeeping is to Keep the Colonies Strong.

The greatest secret about beekeeping is to keep your colonies strong. Watch them in the spring, and do not let them die for want of a little attention. Sometimes you can help a dwindling colony by taking them in time and giving them a little assistance from other colonies. If some of the colonies are light in bees they may be strengthened by occasionally giving a frame hatching brood from some strong colony which will suffer no injury from the loss of it. But this, even, must be done cautiously, and no old bees carried from one hive to another, as that is one of the easiest ways to start robbing.

To get all colonies in this prime condition, the bee-keeper must years will be forced to resort to feeding. It pays at any time to feed bees to keep them from starving and it pays better to keep them in good condition. The colony that goes through the season in poor condition will more than likely prove a failure, so far as gathering honey is concerned.

All colonies should be fed separately by the use of feeders or some method suitable for feeding within the hive.

FANCY POULTRY BUSINESS.

Keeping of Pure Bred Poultry Has Passed Beyond the Experimental Stage.

The fancy poultry business is not an experiment, but has come to stay. Poultry shows are the very life of the poultry business. They keep pure bred poultry before the public and interest the many people who are dealing in pure bred poultry. There are thousands of farmers who have never seen a poultry show, and a great many who are not posted on pure bred chickens at all, says the Kansas Farmer. Thousands of farmers do not know that there are numerous papers that are devoted exclusively to pure bred poultry.

Everyone who is interested in poultry should attend some poultry show this winter and, if possible, show some of their pure bred fowls. The poultry show is the very best school to learn all about the standard requirements of the different fowls. To read all about poultry is one thing, but to see it is another. You can learn more in a poultry show, in one day than you can by reading a month. A great many farmers have gotten their first impulses in the raising of pure bred poultry from visiting the poultry shows.

The Wonderful American Hen.
The cackles of the American hen are swelling into a mighty chorus. Sixteen million times a year these small citizens announce the arrival of a "fresh laid," and the sound of their bragging is waxing loud in the land. According to the last census there are 233,596,005 chickens of laying age in the United States. These are valued at $70,000,000, and the eggs they lay, would, if divided, allow 203 eggs annually for every person—man, woman and child—in the United States. The value of all the fowls, $45,800,000, would entitle every person in the country to $1.12 if they were sold and the proceeds divided. All the weight of the animal products exported, the pork, beef, mutton, ham, bacon and sausage weigh 446,860 tons, while the weight of the eggs laid yearly tips the scales at 970,363 tons.

HIGH-O-ME

That's the Way to Pronounce Hyomet the Money-Back Catarrh Cure.

As doubt exists in the minds of many readers of the CENTRAL RECORD let us say that the above is the proper pronunciation of America's most wonderful catarrh cure. R. E. McRoberts, is the agent for Hyomet in Lancaster and he will sell you an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomet, and full instructions for use, for only $1.00.

And if it fails to cure acute or chronic catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, croup, hay fever or coughs and colds, he will give you your money back. The person who suffers from catarrh after such an offer as that, must like to amble, spit and wheeze, and be generally disgusting.

Read what Mr. G. F. Lowe says: "I have used Hyomet for a case of nasal catarrh which had bothered me for a long time. I can say that Hyomet killed the germs of the disease and gave me the much sought and needed relief. From this experience I know Hyomet to be a reliable remedy, and I give it the praise and recommendation that it deserves."—G. F. Lowe, R. F. D. No. 7, Allegan Mich., September 19, 1908.

ENGLAND HAS INFLUENZA.

Cats, Dogs and Other Domestic Animals Suffer from Epidemic; Some Cases Fatal.

Even the domestic animals in London have not been free from the prevailing epidemic of influenza. Many horses are included in the list of victims of the disease, and their symptoms are very like those of human beings.

Dogs have a form of influenza cold. In a few cases it is fatal. The best authorities do not believe they can communicate the disease to their owners.

Cats are great sufferers, and their symptoms are exactly like those of a human being. They can catch the ailment from men or women, and can communicate it to others in turn.

The lucky outdoor animals at the zoo have always escaped the "flu," and the apes last winter were free from it, but the previous year they had a dreadful time of it and one chimpanzee died. Their symptoms were uncannily human, even to the depression which followed.

It was plain from their behavior that the disease and chimpanzees suffered from headache. They also lost their appetites and catarrhal inflammations were noticed. It was a trying time in the monkey house, for sick monkeys are painfully like sick men, so the keepers at the zoo say, and last winter they were watched carefully to subvert at the start any other outbreak of influenza cold among the apes. It is always very contagious in its monkey form to other monkeys, but the keepers did not catch it at all.

The "flu" seems to last longer among the apes than it does with the other animals, and leaves them as weak as the strong man is when he finally conquers this enemy.

LIVESTOCK NOTES.

A good fleece on the back of a sheep is money in the owner's pocket.

Fill up all the hog wallows, and provide your swine with clean water to bathe in. A hog does not like a dirty bath any better than you like it.

Handle the cows in such a way that they will be gentle. The gentle cow almost invariably gives the most milk.

In feeding calves by hand, keep the calves drinking milk as clean as you do the milking pails. This will lessen the danger of scours and other ailments.

PUBLIC SALE!

OF 35 MAGNIFICENT BUILDING LOTS IN BEAUTIFUL WEST DANVILLE

There will be offered at public auction without reserve or by-bid. 35 of the most desirable building lots in West Danville on Thursday, May 20th, 1909, Promptly at 1 o'clock.

WEST DANVILLE is located in the very heart of the growing residential district of the city; new houses are being erected and the demand for dwellings in this particular section is far beyond the supply. If all the lots to be offered had a house on them, all could be rented to desirable tenants in less than twenty-four hours. West Danville is barely outside of the city limits, where all the advantages of the town may be enjoyed, yet without the payment of city taxes.

A Splendid Lot Will Be Given Away ABSOLUTELY FREE On the Day of Sale

Each holder of a ticket will be registered and the holder of the lucky number must be present in person when the drawing takes place. A Brass Band will be in attendance. Danville's reputation as an educational center is too far famed to require special notice here. It may be mentioned that the Kentucky School for the Deaf, Central University of Kentucky, Caldwell College, Danville Business College, numerous private schools and the best public school in the state are located here, as well as handsome churches of all denominations. Danville is the terminal point of the Southern Railway, and the divisional point of the Queen & Crescent route. Hundreds of railroad people are moving into the city. West Danville is the one available residence section for these people. When these lots are sold all available building sites in this section will have been practically taken, so now is the time to buy. To the speculator no better investment can be found. Terms liberal and made known on day of sale.

THIS SPLENDID subdivision fronts upon one of the most magnificent country estates in Kentucky, and is without doubt the real growing section of Danville, within easy reach of water, electric lights, sewerage and gas. Several of the lots to be offered front on the Perryville pike and are the cream of the whole sub-division. All lots except those fronting on the Perryville pike are 50x200 feet, and those on the pike are 60x250.

NABOTH, JR.

Naboth, Jr. is a rich red bay, 4 years old and full of hair, high, weighs 1225 pounds and is a horse of wonderful beauty, having a long, rangy neck and carrying a fine tail. He is a perfect galloper with superb all round action and like all sons of old Naboth he has great natural speed in harness and a greater racking horse can not be found in the State of Kentucky. I have been a dealer in fancy horses for ten years, introducing them for all the markets in this country and I am anxious to encourage the breeders of horses to continue to raise better ones. As it is generally known there is a scarcity of good horses, and those suitable for the Eastern market bring fancy prices. If the breeders would raise "Number one" horses they must take the mares to the right kind of sires. Naboth, Jr., beyond all doubt, is a horse that will produce that type of horses that the market demands, and for which the public is willing to pay high prices. I purchased this great young stallion at a fancy price because he has class, style, action, beauty and breeding. I had this horse worked 30 days and he stepped a mile in 2:40.

If like beggars like you can get the right kind of horses by breeding to Naboth, Jr. You will note that this stallion has the blood of old Naboth, Hambleton 10, Old Messenger Chief, Red Wilkes, George Wilkes, Nanhro Chief, Pilot Jr and Harry Clay.

Pedigree.

By Naboth, 1006 2:10 1/2, by Wadsworth, 1106, sire of Latitude 2:10 1/2, and several others in the list. Wadsworth by George Wilkes.

Old Naboth's first dam, Tinsel by Messenger Durock 100, son of Hambleton 10.

Second dam, Boss, sister to James Howell, Jr. by Hambleton 10. Third dam, Jessie Ray by Harry Clay 45.

Naboth, Jr.'s first dam by Messenger Chief, Jr. by Old Messenger Chief. Second dam by Chris Davis, by Red Wilkes, Third dam Thoroughbred.

Naboth, Jr. will be kept during the season of 1909 at my stable in Lancaster, Ky., and will be permitted to serve mares at the very low price of $15.00 to insure a living colt. Farm and Stock.

Sheep keep the land free from weeds and convert the same into a valuable commodity. They are the most easily managed animals and do not tramp a field and lot like other, and one can turn them into fields to pick up waste where other animals could not be tolerated, and thus save a vast and otherwise actual loss.

Using as a theory that an egg decomposes owing to the entrance of bacteria through the shell, an English firm has adopted a method of preserving eggs by first disinfecting them and then immersing them in a vessel of hot paraffine in a vacuum. The air in the shell is extracted by a vacuum and atmospheric pressure is then allowed to enter the vessel, and the hot wax is pressed into the pores of all the shell, which thus hermetically seals it. Evaporation of the contents of the egg, which has a harmful effect is thereby prevented, and the egg is practically sterile. The yolk of pickled eggs and others artificially preserved will frequently break on being poached, but the eggs preserved by this novel process, it is stated, are quite free from such fault.—Exchange.

This is a busy month in the orchard and garden; dig out worms, cut out black knots, spray for codling-moth, look out for eating cutworms on young trees, watch out that new grafts are not injured by lice nor smothered by shoots from the stock, pull off blossoms from young trees (premature fruit bearing starts growth), and throw two forkfuls of manure around each newly set tree. Do the last after a rain; the manure keeps the moisture in the ground and insures a good start.

Rhodes still survives, a medieval city at its defense, a war gear of tower and curtain and keep. VERDICT

Will make season of 1909 at my place, 4 1/2 miles from Lancaster on Poor House pike.

Verdict is a dark chestnut, 15 1/2 hands, counting a year old, with as much natural style and action as any stallion living, as fine as any mare or gelding you will see, combining all the qualities as to looks, breeding, style and action that go to make a great sire and a first-class producer. If the law of nature repeats itself—"that like begets like"—then you have an ideal stock horse in Verdict. I claim that Verdict carries more of the blood of Old Peavine and Washington Denmark than any horse living, as his breeding will show.

Verdict's career as a show horse has rarely been equaled, winning as a 2 year old and as a 3 year old straight through the Fair Circuit without a break, closing his 3 year old campaign at the Louisville Horse show by winning two first ties in his class and winning second in his class for stallions any age, three going against the pick of the aged stallions from Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri, in a ring of fifteen horses.

Verdict's show career was cut short in 1902 by sickness, only showing at Richmond and Lexington where he won first premiums to aged stallion class.

In 1902 Verdict had fully recovered from his illness, and where he won the $500 stake for best stallion, mare or gelding, also first for best aged stallion. The second show was at Lexington, where he won first, then to Harrodsburg, where he won first in aged stallions, first in Sweepstakes, (best first first in combined ring and first in model ring at this fair. Verdict met with an unfortunate accident, which kept him from going to the Louisville Horse show, for which he was being specially prepared under the able supervision of Mat B. Cohen.

Pedigree.
Verdict 1821, sired by Cero Gordo 1892; by Black Squirrel 58; by Black Eagle 71; by King Williams 67; by Washington Denmark 64. Verdict's dam, Jay Bird 1014; by Peavine 85; 3d dam by Young Hindon; he by Diamond Denmark 58; by Washington Denmark 51.

Cero Gordo's dam, Miss Richmond 561; by King Richard; he by Peavine 85. King Richard's dam Pharo (Thor) by Imported Pharo. Miss Richmond's dam Jenny Lynn 361, by Stonewall Jackson 78 by Washington Denmark 64.

You will see that Verdict traces three times to Peavine 85 (Old Peavine) and three times to Washington Denmark, thus combining the blood of two of the greatest show horses that ever lived.

TERMS
Verdict will be allowed to serve mares at

$25 To Insure a Living Colt

In which event a lien is retained on the colt for the service fee. Care taken to prevent accidents, but not responsible should any occur.
